Program Spotlight

Welcome Back!

As the new fall term begins I want to welcome you to or back to USI. Each year we encounter students that are uncertain about the term "Student Veteran" and who that applies to on campus. The answer is simple, if you are military-connected be it yourself or a parent, you are part of our veteran campus community! Our lounge and any activity we do on campus includes you and we welcome your participation.

The Veteran Military and Family Resource Center lounge is located in the Education Center in room EC 0114. This space offers all of our students an opportunity to relax, study and be around those with similar experiences.

The space offers four (4) computer workstations, coffee, microwave refrigerator, and free printing if you are a VA education benefit recipient.

Our Student Veteran Association promotes Veteran activities and programs for the campus. It is a local chapter of the national organization and is the voice for student concerns on campus. There are many programs and activities on campus to help you gain the camaraderie you shared in uniform. Time commitment to these are minimal, but without support, they will go away and with it goes the voice for veteran concerns and initiatives. Please consider joining today.

VA Chapters 33, 30, and 1606 must verify their enrollment EACH month via text or phone methods.

REMEMBER: If you make schedule changes, but are still enrolled, you do not need to report changes when you call. When you report changes, the VA assumes you have withdrawn totally. Only report that if you have officially withdrawn from all of your courses.

Staff Feature

Meet the Staff – Veterans Serving Veterans

When the University of Southern Indiana first developed its veteran program, it was important to place staff that could understand what it was like to be a student, parent, advisor and be service-connected.

Over the last 10-years since the inception of the Veteran Military and Family Resource Center, our staff has been service-connected. This is something we are very happy with as we assist our veteran community in navigating their educational mission.

JOEL MATHERLY - Director

Joel Matherly (MAJ, ret) served in the U.S. Army for 28-years and retired from the Defense Information Systems Agency (DISA) as a Major. JAMIE BANDY - Military Services Coordinator

She continually works to improve processes within our system and is currently working on her Masters of Business Administration with an emphasis in Marketing. Jamie works with students under the Department of Veteran Affairs (VA) educational benefit programs.

DEBORAH BAILEY - Military Services Coordinator

Tuition Assistance / Army ROTC Personnel

Sanctuary on the Hill groundbreaking, $6.7M for veteran support

Zoriah Cole, 14 News, Mar 2025

WARRICK CO., Ind. (WFIE) - Organizers say the groundbreaking of the Sanctuary on the Hill is a unique endeavor aimed at providing holistic support and a renewed sense of purpose for those who have bravely served our nation.

Vice President of Mission First, Sean Georges, says the vision is to create more than just a facility; they aim to build a comprehensive haven where veterans can find not just support, but a renewed sense of purpose and belonging.

"That's why we're here, were finally getting this thing right," Georges says. "It always was our collaborative community responsibility to bring the military veterans back into the fold."

Officials emphasize that the facility will offer a multi-faceted approach, addressing the physical, emotional and social challenges faced by veterans returning to civilian life.

Shawn Smith says he's served in the army for five years, deploying to Iraq two times, and he's witnessed firsthand the profound challenges veterans encounter.

Smith says many of veterans who have served have faced significant hurdles in our transition back to civilian life.

He says to see a project like this, a sanctuary designed specifically to address not just their unique needs but veteran families as well, finally coming to fruition, is deeply moving.

The Sanctuary on the Hill is envisioned as a vibrant community hub, a place where veterans can connect with each other, share their experiences and receive specialized care tailored to their individual needs.

"There needs to be a new model, and it starts with a place and this is the place, this magical place and these incredible human beings both military and civilian and a community that has the resources and the heart and that's what I love about our chances to get this right," Georges says.

As construction progresses, the community eagerly anticipates the transformative impact the Sanctuary on the Hill will have on the lives of those who have dedicated themselves to serving our country.

National News

Senators Banks, Hassan Introduce the Veterans Opportunity Act of 2025

WASHINGTON, D.C., - Last week, Senators Jim Banks (R-Ind.) and Maggie Hassan (D-N.H.) introduced the Veterans Opportunity Act to streamline VA programs that help veterans achieve economic success after serving in the U.S. military by establishing an Under Secretary for Veterans Economic Opportunity and Transition. The Veterans Economic Opportunity and Transition Administration would reorganize existing VA employees and programs, not expand the size or scope of VA. It would manage employment, vocational rehabilitation, educational assistance, home loan, transition, and other economic opportunity programs formerly housed in the Veterans Benefits Administration.

Senator Jim Banks (R-Ind.): “From their years of service, veterans bring leadership, discipline, and highly transferable skills to civilian employment, they’re ready to succeed from day one. This bill helps veterans transition into civilian life and ensures our heroes have access to the educational and financial resources they’ve earned.”

Senator Maggie Hassan (D-N.H.): “Veterans have made tremendous sacrifices to keep our country safe, secure, and free. One of the ways we can recognize their service is to ensure that veterans are able to access good, high-paying jobs after their service. This bipartisan bill will help the VA provide greater focus on support services for veterans who are transitioning back into the workforce and will help grow our economy as well.”

Jared Lyon, National President, and CEO, Student Veterans of America: “Economic opportunity is a key pillar of a successful transition and long-term well-being for veterans. We thank Senators Banks and Hassan for their continued leadership and urge the advancement of this important legislation. Veterans deserve a VA that champions their full potential, and this bill is a vital step in that direction.”

Key Provisions of the Veterans Opportunity Act:

- Reorganizes VA to create a new Administration led by a Senate-confirmed Under Secretary dedicated to economic opportunity and transition programs.
- Moves key programs like vocational rehabilitation, GI Bill education benefits, VA home loans, and the Transition Assistance Program (TAP) under one roof.
- Requires annual reporting to Congress on performance metrics like claim volume, processing times, and outcomes.
- Includes safeguards that the reorganization will not increase bureaucracy or reduce services to veterans.

250th Marine Corps Birthday Ball

Legend has it that on 10 November 1775 Samuel Nicholas was commissioned by the new government of the fledgling United States to "stand up two battalions of Marines" to serve onboard US Navy ships. Nicholas went to Tun Tavern in Philadelphia and organized the first 100 of the 'few good men' who became Marines. Our Birthday Ball in Evansville celebrates the birth of our Corps. For 250 years young people have stood up, raised their right hands and sworn to defend our nation against all enemies.
